

Science Breakfast

"About the unplannable steps in a scientific career - a personal view:"

Univ.-Prof. Dr. Christa Schleper

Date and Time: 7.11.2018, 8.30 a.m.

Venue: TU Graz, Stremayrgasse 16, SR BMTEG038

"When looking at my scientific CV, my career looks rather smooth and well planned. However, in reality most of the biggest turns and moves on this journey through science were caused by rather unplanned events or patterns, some of which are astonishing, others unexpected or even almost shocking to me. By sharing my reflections on my personal path I don't want to draw conclusions with general advices to others. But I hope that some of my patterns will be interesting to my audience or even motivating, although sometimes you might simply shake your head and think: even THAT is possible?"
